A Rapical paper endeavored to explain the Radical defeat in Indiana by declaring with great perspicuity that the Democratic gains were obtained by virtue of "more vigorous apathy and numerous a senterism" on the part of the Radicals. Judging from the result of the late elections, the Radicals are still troubled with this "vigorous apathy and numerous absenteeism "4

Ar a meeting of the stockholders of the Virginia and Tennessee, the Southside the Norfolk and Petersburg, and the Virginia and Kentucky Railroad Companies at Lynchburg, on the 12th inst., these roads were consolidated under the name of the "Atlantic, Mississippi and Ohio Railroad Company," The organization of the company was completed by the unanimous election of Gen. Wm. Mahone as President, with a salary of $25,000.

It is noted as one of the most gratifying things about the fall elections is that of forty-nine Congressmen who voted to prevent the people from buying salt cheap, twenty-four have been unceremoniously dismissed from the service, and only a part of the remainder have been re-elected, This shows that the people are not only thinking on the tariff question, but have already begun to act, and act sensibly,

Ber a few days ago a couple of young probability of being sent to the peniten tiary, for masquerading in female attire In this connection it seems to us entirely pertinent to ask why it is any more criminal for young men to don petticoats, and dresses than for women to wear breeches, There are already a number of women, among whom is Dr. Mary Walker, who boldly don masculine attire, and walk the streets unmolested. Why don't the rule work both ways:

THE New York Sun (Radical) has an elaborate article in a recent issue, exposing the uselessness and the mischievious meddling of the congressional election act, commonly called the enforcement act, coupled with an expression of the hope that Concress, as its next session, will repeal it, or if this expnot be done, let it by a new not separate the election of members of Congress from State elections, so that there shall be no attempt to stretch the principle of federal interposition beyoud its proper limits.

THE New York Ledger told us some without fail win the Presidential game, in the contest of 1872. That card was to get up a war with England on the Alabama claims, by which the Democratic much alarmed at the recent popular indications, gives fresh pith and tone to the Ledger's suggestion, asserting, without besitation, that a war with England is the thing to secure Grant's re-election.

COL. Col. Prosser stated before the election that he would submit to a fair election No one pretends that there was any unfairness in the election of which Col. Prosser could possibly complain. In the next place, to succeed he would have to assist Mullins in ousting John M. Bright, Friemon in ejecting Whitthorne, and Norman in getting the seat of Caldwell in the 7th district. All of these successful candidates stand upon the same footing. Congress will turn neither of them out. Nothing could be effected by this which would be beneficial as a party

ENFORTUNATE MR. GRANT. We have it from high Radical authority that Gen. Grant will probably be a candi date for re-election. His friends not only do not deny this, but seem to be strug gling to secure him the nomination in

But Gen. Grant, either from his own blundering propensities, or from the blundering management of his kinsmen and friends, has unfortunately gotten himself into a Radical hornet's nest, His forcing Gen. Cox from the Cabinet together with his attack upon Mr. Wilson, the Land Commissioner, has incurred the plainly expressed hostility of very many of the Conservative-Republi cans. Indications of this are to be found in the correspondence between President Woolsey, of Yale College, and others and

Gen. Cox, which we publish to-day. Gen. Grant in his letter of Aug. 22 the Secretary of the Interior says : "I have grown suspicious of Mr. Wil son, and will tell you why when I go to Washington next. This was accompanied by a declaration of the President that he would give the reasons for his suspicions upon the first opportunity. Those suspicions grew out of the fact, as the President alleged, that Mr. Wilson had, in drafting the act le confirm certain private land claims for Missouri (meaning a private claim of the President's father-in-law), inserted dause which had destroyed the value of he act to the claimant. The clause complained of is the following:

"Re and the same are hereby confirme place, subject to any adverse rights, such exist, and patent for said claims

e issued accordingly." Although this was usual in acts to con irm private claims, yet the brother-in-law of the President tool umbrage at it as being calculated to weaken the effect of a Congressiona lecision in favor of the Dent family. In short the Dents, being unwilling to rest their claim upon the law and testsnony, were endeavoring to get in their favor a Congressional decree so as to exclude a hearing upon the part of all oth ers who might have claims to the same lands. President Grant has been unfortonate in the gentlemen he has selected for his attack. Gen. Cox, Secretary of the Interior, was, by universal consent, he most unimpeachable man in the Cabiet. Mr. Wilson has been Land Commisdoner for a number of years, and in the lischarge of his duties has received the approval of all parties. The McGarrahan claim, which was the mmediate cause of the dismissal, or more properly speaking, the resignation of Gen. Cox "like a rotten mackerel by moon ight, shines and stinks, and stinks and shines." The attempt to bribe Col. Don Piatt, and through him to influence Sec retary Cox, gives additional odor to this attempt to swindle the government. The unfortunate Mr. Grant will find that i will be difficult for him to win the presidoutlal race of 1872, if he is handicapped with the Dent family and all of their little family arrangements in gold, bonds and mys: "The Democracy of Arkansas have done well. The have elected Hanks, a good and true man, in the Helena Con ressional district, over the notorious Logan H. Rootes, a bitter Radical pro scriptive. In the Pine Bluff district Soyder has defeated Rogers, the Demo cratic nominee, who ought to have been mecessful. In the Fort Smith district the Democrats elected Edwards, a Union soldier, over Boles, another prescriptive Radical. Thus our friends in Arkansa three, and only lost the third by the un popularity of their nomince. The contest for the United States Senate will b close. At last accounts, the Senate of Arkansas stood seven Democrats to nine Radicals, and in the lower branch of the Legislature the Demoerats have forty-three members and the Radicals thirty-nine. Thus the Demorracy have the lower, and the Radicals he higher branch of the Legislature, Or joint ballot, the Demseracy will have fifty cotes, and the Radicals only forty-eight, This is doing very well in a State where the greatest outrages were perpetrated as o registration in some counties, and h others, registration utterly denied th people. We shall be surprised if the great victory in Arkansas has not only defeated the Senatorial aspirations of Gov. Clayton, but of Senator McDonald besides. If there should be any election

With the amount of land and money given by California, Nevada and Utah, and by various local corporations the public is not generally so well acquainted. $156,825,360 0 The way in which this immense amoun of funds has been used by the managers of the Central Pacific Company to enrich themselves, and themselves alone, will form a most interesting chapter in the financial history of the country. The boldness with which they have carried out their plundering schemes is wonder ful, even in those days of railroad fraud and corruption. Instead of undertaking by its own agents the construction of the road, or making the most favorable con tracts with outside parties, a majority of the directors of the road confederated together to defraud the other stockhold ers, and under the firm name of C

Crocker & Co. contracted with them selves to construct and equip the road at a rate, as the plaintiff in this case avers, of two hundred per cent. above the actual and reasonable cost of the work done. By this arrangement it is claimed that the directors voted to them selves, over and above the actual cost of their work, the enormous sum of $7, 000,000. All this took place before the close of the year 1867. After that the ame party, combined together under the name of the Contract and Finance Company, without in any manner advertising or inviting competition, took all the remaining contracts for constructing the road and telegraph line. By this arrangement these men divided up among themselves over $200,000,000 in excess of a fair price for their work, subletting their contracts at ten hundred per cent be low the prices which they awarded them-

It is not necessary to go through the his tory of the frauds charged in connection with the management of this corpora tion. One fact averred by the complain ant will suffice to show that these charges are well founded, and that is that, before the inauguration of these immense schemes, the five or six most prominent men connected with them were not worth, all together, more than $250,000, while now each one of them has property the amount of $2,000,000.

How long the prosperity of the country can bear up under such monstrous frands as are disclosed in the management of th Central Pacific Railroad, is a question which interests every citizen. To what will not men aspire who are capable of such schemes? What will they not dare further in advancing their own private The Memphis Non of the 15th inst

PRIVATE AND CONFIDENTIAL. WASHINGTON, D. C., July 21, 1870.-My Dear Colonel: Since writing you last have got our matter in a more definite shape. I have seen Billy McGarrahar and told him that you would have nothing o do with the business unless he reduced his proposition to writing. He was very shy, and said, as I have told you before that he would put it in writing and deposit with his lawyer, Paschal, and pay , provided you could prove that you had officient influence with Secretary Cox to delay the issuing of the patent. I told him his stock was not worth waste paper. He said in reply that he had issued no stock that had given him any anxiety, but that, if successful, he intended to form a grand joint stock company and make ar one that would be good as gold, "How would it do, then, to make the proposition to pay $20,000 in stock proided you can bring sufficient personal influence upon the Secretary of the Interior, and deposit in bank? All he wants, or says he wants, is delay; and he is so starhe would pay it.
